IOGEAR Customizes Home Theater Set Up with Wireless HD Kit

Consumers can enjoy wireless HD streaming up to 100 feet away

CES 2010, Las Vegas, NV and Foothill Ranch, CA – January 7, 2010 – IOGEAR

today announced its Wireless HD Kit (GWAV8141K), helping to eliminate home theater clutter. The new kit allows consumers to customize their living space and wirelessly transmit Blu-ray / DVD players, DVR / Set-top boxes, VHS players, Computers and Media Servers / Home Theater PC's to HDTV's or projectors.

An ideal solution for consumers looking to customize their home theater experience, highlights of the Wireless HD Kit include:

- Enjoy the freedom of wireless HD video and digital audio
 - Wirelessly transmit / stream your Blu-ray player, DVD player, HD Set-top box, VCR, Media Server, or Computer
 - Supports Full HD 1080p/60Hz and Digital Audio
- Customize your living space
 - Place your HDTV in a place that fits your style without the hassle of tearing out walls and running long unattractive cables
 - Keep your electronics neatly out of sight
- Broadcast up to 4 HD Receivers
 - Play your favorite HD content on 4 separate HD and Non-HD displays
- Works with HD and Non-HD devices and displays
 - Connect your HD or non-HD devices to the HD Transmitter and your HD or non-HD TV / projector / display to the HD Receiver
 - Versatility with more connection types allows you to connect your HDMI, Component, Composite, and VGA devices

- Convenient size for home or portable use

- Compliments your home decor
- Use at private events and tradeshow

- Simple Plug and Play

- No software or drivers to install
- Just plug in and you're on

“Many people struggle with having too many devices cluttering their home entertainment center and creating a messy and unattractive home theater,” said Miranda Su, executive vice president of IOGEAR. “The Wireless HD Kit helps eliminate that mess and allows consumers to enjoy HD streaming in a more organized fashion.”

IOGEAR’s Wireless HD Kit will be available around the end of March at an MSRP of $899.95.

The Wireless HD Kit is part of IOGEAR’s AVIOR product series. The AVIOR Series is a comprehensive product suite that enables entertainment enthusiasts to bridge the gap between the computer and home entertainment center.

The AVIOR Series includes IOGEAR’s collection of switches, splitters, HDMI adapters, cables, mini-extendors and wireless USB transmitters and receivers to easily connect and network a multitude of home theater devices.
